

Role

Sustainability Consultants

Salary: 25-35k

Locations: Vacancies exist with the Midlands, London & Hampshire.

A leading global multidisciplinary consultancy is looking to recruit Sustainability Consultants to join their growing team.

The organisation currently has positions available for suitably qualified individuals to assist in growing their energy & sustainability team. The ideal candidate will have experience in this field and have a good knowledge of current legislation and guidelines in relation to sustainability in the design and operation of building services. In this role you will be responsible for conducting sustainability assessments, using BREEAM (Building Research Establishment Environmental Assessment Method), and producing the associated eco-building consulting services and reports (Part L reports, EPCs and Renewable Energy reports). Candidates with experience of community development would be desirable.

The company can offer a generous benefits package and the opportunity for career development. The company also offers excellent training courses and encourages employees to gain further qualifications.
