

Technical Advisor

Wales

£Attractive

We are working for a non for profit waste organisation who now have the requirement for an experienced Technical Advisor to join their team and work with the materials, marketing & compliance advisor to support local authorities with the marketing of materials collected for recycling, environmental permitting, environmental management and regulatory compliance at waste facilities.

This is a varied role and will also include, but not be limited to; delivering and managing the generation and submission of environmental permit applications, transfers and surrender packages for waste management facilities on behalf of local authorities and their contractors, providing support materials marketing activities for recyclate collected by local authorities including; supporting sales exercises, collating submissions, arranging materials sales open days and working with authorities to generate materials sales documentation and developing technical expertise in areas relevant to the work of the programme, respond to requests from colleagues, keep abreast of developments in these areas and bring them to the attention of colleagues, and further duties as required.

The successful candidate will have a full driving licence, health and safety qualification at level 2 or above and at least an IOSH managing safely certificate, flexibility and preparedness to take on travel as required and varied hours, experience of developing environmental management systems and environmental risk assessments for waste facilities and demonstrable experience of the environmental permitting regulations (EPR) and associated waste regulations and framework and its application within Wales.

For full details email Rebecca@candovergreen.com with a copy of your CV attached and the job ref: RB2098

